THE NATURALIST'S EYE: Heather A. Wallis Murphy
With

THE MAPMAKER'S EYE: David Thompson

FIRST FRIDAY EXHIBIT RECEPTION: JULY 2ND FROM 5:00-7:00PM

FIRST FRIDAY MEET THE ARTIST: August 6th from 5:00-7:00pm

Location: Wenatchee Valley Museum and Cultural Center; 127 South Mission, Wenatchee, WA 98801

Description: This shared exhibit celebrates 200 years of explorer David Thompson, the mapmaker of the Columbia River; with journals and artwork by North Central Washington wildlife biologist and artist Heather A. Wallis Murphy. Inspired by early explorer/naturalists, Murphy creates artistic studies of plants, animals and landscapes of the Cascades. Working in wildlife and forestry since 1974, she developed a strong sense of observational skills. An assortment of her field journals and wildlife equipment are on display. Heather's nature art is part of many local events; posters of her work are shown in large format. Presented here are over 40 original paintings and journals, as well as press-sheets of her popular Walleye Cards.

Cost: July 2nd and August 6th receptions are free; other times museum entrance fee.
